

The Five Themes of Geography foldable

Location, Place, Human/Environment Interaction, Movement and Regions

Directions:

You will create a foldable that includes information about the five themes of Geography. For each theme you will complete the following:

1. A detailed definition of the 5 themes (3-4 sentences)
2. A picture that represents/describes the theme (all illustrations must be colored)
3. Answer the following questions for each theme?

Location: What are two ways (two names) of describing the positions and distribution of people and places on the earth's surface?

Place: What are some characteristics that make one place different from other places?

H/E interaction: What is the relationship between humans and the environment? How do the two interact?

Movement: What are some examples of movement of people, goods, or ideas in your area?

Regions: Most regions are different from other regions. Why? What are some examples?

4. On the back explain how all five themes are connected
